GUEST SPEAKERS

Dr. Lyndi Sanders, Ed.D.
Customer Education Officer, Capital Farm Credit

Dr. Lyndi Sanders holds bachelor's and master's degrees in Agricultural Development from Texas A&M University, as well as a Doctorate in Education from Baylor University. With over 17 years of experience in agricultural lending—spanning both the Farm Credit System and commercial banking—she brings deep industry insight to her work. Her research centers on advancing financial literacy among young and beginning farmers and ranchers, aiming to equip the next generation of agricultural producers with essential financial tools. Lyndi lives in Cameron, Texas, with her two sons, Sloan and Dean.

Justin Hale
Director of Operations, Ignition Land Services

Justin Hale is a Texas-based land management professional and entrepreneur with over a decade of experience in vegetation management, agricultural aviation support, and applied ag technology. He is the owner and Director of Operations at Ignition Land

Services, where he helps landowners, producers, and agencies solve complex vegetation challenges through ground, aerial, and UAV based applications.

Kyle Caldwell
Vice President of Marketing and Operations, Geneplus

Kyle Caldwell grew up on his family's cattle operation and has a longstanding background in production agriculture. Kyle currently serves as the Vice President of Marketing and Operations for Geneplus, one of the leading suppliers of Brangus and Ultrablack genetics in the United States, marketing over 350 bulls annually across North America. Previously, Kyle has held roles in branded beef and meat packing with Certified Hereford Beef, Bettcher Industries, Raider Red Meats, and Heartbrand Beef. Kyle received his bachelor's degree in Animal Science from Texas Tech and his master's degree in Meat Science at Texas A&M. While at both universities, Kyle was extremely involved in the BBQ world, gaining certifications and accolades in his tenure. Kyle, his wife Jennifer, and their son live outside of Corsicana.

Donna Hughes
Senior Risk Management Consultant, StoneX Financial Markets

Donna Hughes is a Senior Risk Management Consultant with StoneX Financial Markets. She began her career in 1978 at the CME Group in Chicago where she worked with USDA to facilitate the inspection of physical commodities deliverable on the Exchange. Her work at the CME introduced her to multiple CME Clearing Firms, and from there she chose to work with George Segal who was the primary sole hedger of pork bellies in the industry. Donna relocated to Texas in 2005 with her family where she began working with local producers to hedge risk for cattle, grains and cotton. She is the author of the Market Talk Newsletter and Podcast.

Kat Neilson
Head Grant Specialist, Texas Department of Agriculture

Kat Neilson joined the Texas Department of Agriculture's grants team in 2018. She is the Texas state point of contact for the Specialty Crop Block Grant and Specialty Crop Multi-State program, the Young Farmer Grant, the National Organic Certification Cost Share Program, the STAR Fund, the Agriculture and Research Development Program and the Resilient Food Systems Infrastructure Program. Her fifteen years of grant experience stems from a diverse background in non-profits, including higher education, private foundations, and heritage/museum management. Her experience includes the entire life cycle of grants from writing and project implementation to monitoring and new program creation. Kat loves to travel and spends her time in the great outdoors camping, hiking, and exploring with her partner, Randy.

Shannon L. Ferrell
Professor, Oklahoma State University Department of Agricultural Economics

Shannon Ferrell is a professor in the Oklahoma State University Department of Agricultural Economics, where he specializes in Agricultural Law. He grew up on a cattle and wheat operation in Western Oklahoma, and obtained his bachelor's and master's degrees in Agricultural Economics from OSU before obtaining his Juris Doctorate from the Oklahoma City University School of Law with endorsements in Estate Planning and Business and Financial Services Law. Shannon spent a number of years in full-time private practice before joining OSU in 2007.
